Forget What You Know About Good Study Habits

By BENEDICT CAREY

5 Every September, millions of parents try a kind of psychological witchcraft to transform their summer-glazed campers into fall students, their video-bugs into bookworms. Advice is cheap and all too familiar: “Clear a quiet work space. Stick to a homework schedule. Set goals. Set boundaries. Do not bribe (except in emergencies)”.

10 And check out the classroom. Does Junior’s learning style match new Teacher’s approach? Or the school’s philosophy? Maybe the child isn’t “a good fit” for the school.

Such theories have developed in part because of sketchy education research that doesn’t offer clear guidance. Student traits and teaching styles surely interact; so do personalities and at-home rules. The trouble is, no one can predict how.

15 Yet, there are effective approaches to learning, at least for those who are motivated. In recent years, cognitive scientists have shown that a few simple techniques can reliably improve what matters most: how much a student learns from studying.

20 The findings can help anyone, from a fourth grader doing long division to a retiree taking on a new language. But they directly contradict much of the common wisdom about good study habits, and they have not caught on.

25 For instance, instead of sticking to one study location, simply alternating the room where a person studies improves retention. So does studying distinct but related skills or concepts in one sitting, rather than focusing intensely on a single thing.

30 “We have known these principles for some time, and it’s intriguing that schools don’t pick them up, or that people don’t learn them by trial and error,” said Robert A. Bjork, a psychologist at the University of California, Los Angeles. “Instead, we walk around with all sorts of unexamined beliefs about what works that are mistaken.”

- 6 In the 1st paragraph the author advises parents NOT to _____.
- A behave in a dishonest way in order to get an advantage
 - B deliberately tell a child something that is not true
 - C offer a child something in return for studying
 - D make a child feel guilty for something he/she has done
- 7 According to the text which of the following is the main problem parents face in September?
- A Trying to educate children with little money
 - B Turning their children's attention to studying
 - C Choosing a suitable school for their children
 - D Looking for ways to make children read more
- 8 The author mentions all of the following EXCEPT _____.
- A education research is fragmentary
 - B improving learning styles is quite easy
 - C elderly people rarely benefit from new learning techniques
 - D teachers often ignore research on good study habits
- 9 By saying "Maybe the child isn't a "good fit" for the school" (line 8), the author implies that _____.
- A the student isn't talented enough to be accepted by the school
 - B the child is not highly motivated to study as required by the school
 - C the child lacks the physical strength necessary for intensive studies at school
 - D the student's learning style differs from the teaching approach at school
- 10 The word "them" in line 29 refers to _____.
- A people
 - B principles
 - C trial and error
 - D schools

Introduction to sleep

When you're in a rush to meet work, school, family, or household responsibilities, do you cut back on your sleep? Like many people, you might think that sleep is merely a "down time" when (16) _____. Think again.

What is sleep?

Sleep was long considered just a uniform block of time when you are not awake. Thanks to sleep studies done over the past several decades, it is now known that sleep has distinctive stages that cycle throughout the night. Your brain stays active throughout sleep, but (17) _____. For instance, certain stages of sleep are indeed for us to feel well rested and energetic the next day, and other stages help us learn or make memories.

In brief, a number of vital tasks carried out during sleep help maintain good health and enable people to function at their best. On the other hand, not getting enough sleep can be dangerous - for example, (18) _____ if you drive when you are sleepy.

How much sleep is enough?

Sleep needs vary from person to person, and (19) _____. Most adults need 7-8 hours of sleep each night. Newborns, on the other hand, sleep between 16 and 18 hours a day, and children in preschool sleep between 10 and 12 hours a day. School-aged children and teens need at least 9 hours of sleep a night.

Some people believe (20) _____. But there is no evidence to show that older people can get by with less sleep than younger people. As people age, however, they often get less sleep or they tend to spend less time in the deep, restful stages of sleep.

Why sleep is good for you and skimping on it isn't

Does it really matter if (21) _____? Absolutely! Not only does the quantity of your sleep matter, but the quality of your sleep is important as well.

Task 5

Read the text below. For questions (22 – 33) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D). Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

From the History of Moving Pictures

Many believe that the story first began in America in 1877, when two friends were (22) _____ over whether a horse ever had all four feet or hooves off the ground when it galloped. To settle the bet, a photographer was asked to photograph a horse galloping and the bet was settled because you could see that all the hooves were (23) _____ the ground in some of the photos. What was even more interesting was that if the photos were shown in quick succession the horse looked (24) _____ it was running – in other words ‘moving pictures’.

The person who became interested in (25) _____ the moving pictures to its next step was the famous American inventor Thomas Edison. Actually, he didn't do the work (26) _____ but rather asked a young Scotsman in his employ to design a system, which he did. Now this young fellow was clever because the first thing he did was study other systems – primitive as they were – of moving pictures and then put all the existing technologies together to make the first entire motion picture system. He (27) A C a camera, a projection device and the film. The system was first shown in New York in 1894 and was really very popular. Apparently people (28) A/D around the block to see the wonderful new invention. There were, however, a couple of problems with the system. The camera weighed over 200 kilograms and only one person at a time could see the film.

Well now, news of the new system in America (29) _____ fast, and a number of rival European systems started to appear once people had heard about it. The single problem with all the systems was that they couldn't really (30) _____ the film onto a screen – you know, so more than one person could see it. Then in 1895, three systems were developed, more or less at the same time and independently of each other. I guess the most famous of these was (31) B the Lumiere Brothers from France, and they called their system the cinematograph which of course is where the word cinema comes from.

Well now, once the problem of projection had been solved, the next (32) _____ for the inventors was to make the films longer and more interesting. A continuing problem at the time was that the films had a (33) A B to break when they were being played – a problem which was caused by the tension between the two wheels, or ‘reels’ as they are called, which hold the film.

Male Birds Belt out Their Song by Putting a Little Muscle into It

Some male songbirds can sing (34) _____ notes than females because they have stronger muscles to make the sounds. Some scientists used to think it was all about how well the birds could force air out of their lungs, but new research says it has more to do with muscles in the (35) _____ throats.

There's a reason the boy birds are better singers. They have (36) _____ a mate. The more varied their songs, (37) _____ it will stand out from other boy birds who are also singing in hopes of finding a mate. Varied songs also are easier to hear over noises, like a rushing stream or the noisy calls of other birds.

Although all birds (38) _____ knowing certain calls, songbirds learn how to sing from their parents. That ability is only found in songbirds, humans and a few other mammals like dolphins, whales, and bats.

Why Do Songs Get Stuck in Our Heads?

Having a song, tune, or commercial jingle stuck in one's head is a phenomenon (40) _____ as having an earworm. Most people have had an earworm at one time. The experience is harmless and unrelated to both obsessive-compulsive disorder and endomusia, the (41) _____ of music that is not really there. Certain songs – simple, repetitive, or oddly incongruous – have properties that act as mental mosquito bites in that they produce a cognitive "itch." The condition also arises when people struggle (42) _____ forgotten lyrics or how a song ends. To scratch a cognitive itch, the brain repeats the song, which then traps the hapless victim in a repeated cycle of itching and scratching. Everyone has his or her own list of demon tunes that haunt. Earworms occur more often among women, musicians, and individuals who (43) _____ to worry. Earworms also vary across situations, striking when people (44) _____ or under stress. How can you make an earworm go away? Thinking of something else or actually listening to the song in question are thought to help, but there is presently no research evidence showing what works best. Fortunately, (45) _____ episodes eventually dissipate on their own.
